Signor Ernesto Rossi, the eminent Italian tragedian, was handsomely entertained on Sunday afternoon at a complimentary banquet given at Monticello Hall in his honor by the "Giuseppe Giusti Club di Lettura Italiano," a literary organization composed of many of Richmond's best Italian citizens. The guests of the Club on this processing the service of the Club on this process. pleasant occasion were Signor Ernesto Rossi; Miss Louise Muldener, the leading lady of the Rossi company; Signor H.
Rossi, brother of the tragedian; Signor Mazzei, prompter of the troupe;
his Honor Mayor Carrington; Mr.
John A. Pizzini, Italian Vice-Consul; and number of citizens, owners of more than five million dollars' worth of property, asking that an appropriation of $20,000 in the city of Manager Powell, represented that gentleman. There were also several ladies—wives of members of the Club present, the company all told numbering about thirty. The distinguished guest was formally welcomed by Signor V. Donatt on behalf of the Club by means of a very ap-propriate address, which was read. This address eulogized Signor Rossi in glowing establishment of a Mechanics' Institute for the instruction of young mechanics in drawing, industrial chemistry, and the laws of mechanics. Referred to the Contract of Finance.

The contract of a Mechanics' Institute for propriate address, which was read. The propriate address eulogized Signor Rossi in glowing terms and expressed gratification at his presence; it also contained a very hand-come and complimentary allusion to some and complimentary allusion to Mayor Carrington. Both gentlemen made fitting acknowledgments, that of Sig-nor Rossi being singularly pleasing and effective, spoken, as it was, in the choicest words of his own native language.

Full justice was done to the repast, which, as a special feature, was elegantly gotten up a ta cuisine Italiene by Signor Paulo Danna. Conviviality and sentiment ruled for the time, and every one seemed in-spired with these feelings to such a degree as to make everything pass off most pleas-antly and enjoyably. Signor Rossi seemed particularly to enter into the spirit of the occasion, and his geniality and general good-fellowship was commented upon by all. He had a most able ally in Miss Muldener, who, besides acting as interpreter when required, dis-played her rare accomplishments as a linguist and conversationalist. She was voted by all to be a most charming and elegant lady. Signor A. Petri, president of the Giuseppe Giusti Club, presided at the ban-quet, and to him and the following gentle-men of the Club's committee is due great praise for the success of the entertainment : Signori A. Stefani, V. Donati, L. Gonnella, A. Donati, F. Jardella, A. Giannotti, F. Bernicchi, an'l G. Gonnella. Be-fore adjournment Signor Rossi and the Italian Vice-Consul were honored by being elected honorary members of the Club.

At half-past 4 o'clock the Rossi party were driven in carriages to the Byrd-street lepot, escorted by the members of the club, where, after over an hour's waiting for the delayed southern train, amid cor-dial leave-takings, the Italian visitors took the northern-bound train en route for Bal-timore, in which city Signor Rossi per-

RICHMOND'S PROGRESS-THE NEW HARD- all well-informed Episcopalians know that WARE STORE OF WATKINS, COTTRELL & Co.— Yesterday Messrs. Watkins, Cottrell & Co. opened their new hardware establishment, in Stearn's block, Main street, opposite the post-office, and celebrated the occasion by a handsome collation spread as a New-Year's welcome. Mr. Claiborne Watkins, in saying to the company of friends how glad they were to see them and how thankful were for the liberal patronage which had long been theirs, pointed out—as he had four years before, when president of the Commercial Club—the advantages of Richmond as a commercial as well as a manufacturing centre. This was the day's the day' theme of Mr. Watkins and of Mr. Cottrell. They realize the fact that Richmond is rounding circumstances; and, with all due doing well. Yet they believe she can do better. THE NEW ADMINISTRATION-COLONEL CAMERON AND MESSRS, LEWIS AND BLAIR SWORN IN.—Colonel Cameron had a num-ber of friends at his house, in Petersburg. on Saturday night to express their kind wishes for him in his new official life, and five minutes after 12 Judge Mann then and and there administered to him the oath of office as Governor of Virginia. On Sun-day he came to Richmond. Yesterday, shortly before noon, Colonel Cameron, Mr. Lewis, and Mr. Blair met in the Library, and in the presence of about a dozen of their friends Judge Fitzhugh administered to each of them the oath to well and truly discharge the duties of the offices to which they have been respectively elected. Mr. E. M. Garnett, notary public, had been asked to administer the oath to the Governor, but an examination of the Code re-vealed the fact that the law required that a judge of some court of record should do it. Hence the change.

A great crowd of colored men were about the Capitol while the ceremonies were going on in the Library. They seemed very anxious to see the new Governor, and followed him down the steps when he and his friends went out, as they did after a short stay, and then the Capitol was closed or the day. Mr. James S. Browning, of Washington ounty, will be the Governor's clerk.

siderable number of families received their friends yesterday, and at not a few house the preparations were very elegant, both in respect to toilettes of the ladies and the re-freshments offered. Richmond cannot be said to be unanimous in favor of this New-Year's-day calling and receiving, but there are enough good people who appreci-ate its merits to make the observance quite pleasant and fashionable. The day was suited to the season. A light snow fell Sunday morning, and, the weather being cold, it continued on the ground, except where the wheels of vehicles or the spades of enterprising house-holders cleared it off. Those young gen-tlemen who do not own carriages generally made up parties and bired backs, and in them went from house to house, and seemed to have a real nice time. If there were excesses and misuse of hospitable invitations they were few, very few, in number, and not to be noted where the behavior of the multitude was so excellent. There may have been New-Year's days when more people received and when more called, but probably never was there more liberal expenditure of money in the various ways the occasion offered. That is another proof that Richmond is prosperous. ELECTION OF OFFICERS .- At a meeting of Pure, Soft and like that of Youth. the West-End Building Fund Association, No. 2, held last night at West-End Hall, the following officers were elected for the ensuing twelve months: President, Chris-Louios. tian Unkel; Treasurer, F. W. Wagner; Secretary, F. E. Tholl; Trustees, Timothy Kerse, Frank Miller, Henry Stockmar; Directors, H. Smith, Julius Staude, Daniel

What does the Dispatch mean by using the word white in the religious statistics of Christ church in your last issue? One would infer from the report that our congregation was a mixture of the colored and white races—that we had negroes teachers and scholars in our Sunday school. I do not know who gave the report. Please do us the justice to correct, as we have not yet readjusted to this extent.

Respectfully, A MEMBER OF CHRIST CHURCH. [If our correspondent will look on page 194, "Journal of the Council of the Protestant Episcopal Church, of Virginia," for 1880, he will find that we copied verbatim et literation the language of the parochial report of Christ church to the Council, and the word white is used in nearly all the parochial reports to the Council, whether there are any colored members in the particular church or not. Where the word white is omitted in other Episcopal churches by the Dispatch it is because we followed the reports furnished us by their rectors .-

Americans' Peculiar Prejudice.

Of all existing prejudices those governed or influenced by the palate are m cult to overcome, taste being of all senses easiest led astray by imagination and surdeference to connoisseurs, we find that a by Joseph M.
